Steering Wheel Removed From Blumquist Car

Murderers Seek To Cover

—State Police To Keep On Trail

In an effort to hide all possible evidence, the slayers of Frank L. Blumquist, murdered on a lonely road near Portersville, less than 24 hours after the killing returned to Harmony and removed the steering wheel from his car in which they fled and crashed into a guard rail at Harmony, it was reported here today. The purpose evidently was to remove fingerprint evidence.

It was about 6 p. m. Monday that Blumquist was killed by two men on the road that leads from Portersville to Moore's Corners on the Slippery Rock highway. After the murder they took the dead man's automobile and drove toward Harmony. The wreck occurred. One of the men was injured. He had wounds on his right cheek, chin, mouth and rear of his head.

They paid Everett Hensley, of Harmony, $250 to drive them to Campbell, O. They stopped at Beechwood Inn and one of the men bought a package of cigarettes and a bottle of "pop." The injured man was the one who made the purchases after which Hensley drove them to Campbell. They left the car after they directed him to drive on a dirt road.

The next morning at 7 o'clock, the two men who had been in the wreck, accompanied by a tall man, went to the garage apparently for the purpose of securing some article they feared would lead to their capture. Today it was reported here that they took away the steering wheel which had been broken off. They feared their fingerprints would be found.

Passed Death Scene?

It is also possible that they may have taken something else which they left in the car. It is also believed that before they went to Harmony they had taken the car to a garage.

Western Pennsylvania seems to have been favored with more rain this summer than other sections of the surrounding country. This section of the state is as green as early spring, even though it is the last week of August, indicating the large amount of rainfall that has been experienced here this summer.

Gordon Paden, of Palmont avenue, reports that while in the vicinity of Hillsville today, he noted a blue heron on a pond at the Hoffmaster farm. It has a wing spread of about five feet and was about 42 inches in height, he reports.

Although she was but half a block from her destination, she said she got into the car. The machine sped away on another road, she said, and she was made to wear dark glasses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—With leaders of opposing forces in the battle over cotton and wheat loans declaring "no compromise," President Roosevelt may be forced to swing a club to effect settlement and send an angry Congress home.

Both senate and house were called into session today after plans for Saturday night adjournment were thwarted by the "farm bloc" battle.

Agitate Compromise

A compromise plan, under which the 12-cent cotton and 90-cent wheat loans would be knocked from the deficiency bill and a commission named to study the question, was being agitated.

Chairman James P. Buchanan (D) of Texas of the house appropriations committee, who halted action on the deficiency bill after the senate approved the loans on Saturday, ridiculed the suggestion.

"I don't believe any such reports," he said bluntly. "To make these loans would cost $700,000,000 to $800,000,000. This thing won't be settled today."

Buchanan's statement was made after he had talked with President Roosevelt and director of the budget Daniel W. Bell.

After riding until it was dark, the girl said, she was taken to an abandoned farmhouse and locked in an upstairs room. She cried the entire night, she told authorities, and during the early hours of Sunday heard the two men planning to demand ransom for her release.

Later, the men drove away and the woman took her to the first floor, the girl continued. When the woman left the room, she managed to escape and started hitch-hiking, she said.

opened October 28, by Mussolini in celebration of the 14th anniversary of the march on Rome was badly damaged. Private airplanes were smashed to bits, factories and houses were unroofed and the southern section of Genoa plunged into darkness.

The sudden catastrophe at Genoa followed disastrous floods in Piedmont, where textile factories, making uniforms for Italian troops, were wrecked in addition to a huge loss of life and crops.

MUSSOLINI WARNS LEAGUE OF DANGER IN SANCTIONS MOVE

In written answers to questions that "it should be realized without the possibility of misunderstanding that whoever applies sanctions against Italy will be met with the armed hostility of our country."

The guilt for "expanding a remote colonial campaign" into a European war would rest on the League of Nations, Mussolini said, "nevertheless, I'll send a delegation to the meeting of the council. Our case will be supported by documents and photographs. And when the council has considered this evidence, I'll challenge the league to treat Italy as being on the same footing as Abyssinia, if it can."

"We shall do nothing to set Europe by the ears, but others must have the same sense of responsibilities, and before anyone talks of sanctions, he should think well upon their public consequences."

Referring to Ethiopia as "a country where order has never existed," Mussolini said there was no chance of a change in his attitude "unless Abyssinia gives in."

"We cannot draw back now. The 200,000 Italian rifles in East Africa would go off themselves."

France's Promise

Il Duce openly confirmed that France had promised him a free hand in East Africa. In reply to Price's question: "Is it true that you have settled all your outstanding disputes with France in Tunis and elsewhere in exchange for a pledge on the part of the French government to leave your hands free in East Africa?" Mussolini said: "It is true that, as a consequence of the agreements of January 7, these agreements settled all differences between ourselves and France."

"The task of colonizing and civilizing Ethiopia will provide the Italian people with work for fifty years at least. As soon as we are allowed to devote ourselves to this immense undertaking, we shall be associates and not antagonists of the British empire."

"As soon, however, as Abyssinia has been opened up to Italian colonization, the colonial aspirations of Italy will be completely fulfilled."

Asked about the attitude of the Italian people, Mussolini concluded, "Italy is at present glowing with a deep and powerful military spirit. More than a million families have seen dear ones called away to the service of their country without the slightest disturbance to public order."

Three youths, William Lindner, James Andrews and Steve Pabian, all of Fredericktown, dived into the river and recovered the bodies of the two children. The other bodies were recovered later when the car was raised. Firemen worked over the victims for several hours with inhalators.

Authorities from both Fayette and Washington counties were investigating the tragedy which occurred in midstream between the two counties.

In Floyd Cotton's political advertisement inserted in Saturday's News, the third paragraph began as follows: "The repairs on a building approximately 10 years old are reported as having reached, or will reach, $10,000,000 for this current year." The amount should have read—$10,000.

South Carolina, who put the 12-cent cotton loan "rider" on the deficiency bill, declared that all compromising talk "comes from those who opposed the loans."

"There will be no talk of compromise until the house has been given an opportunity to vote on this matter," he declared. "No group of a few persons has the right to prevent that."

"All we ask is that the 12-cent loan program be continued for a year which a member of the senate said that the president had agreed to."

Charge Of Bad Faith

The charge of bad faith made against President Roosevelt by Senator Bankhead (D) of Alabama made the split of southern Democratic senators with the White House a serious party matter.

Party leaders from other sections rushed forward in an effort to prevent the battle from prolonging the session of congress for days.

"I assume that the house will send the deficiency bill to conference today," said a Democratic leader, Taylor of Colorado. "I know that there has got to be a lot of compromise to settle this thing."

Taylor declared that even if congress were forced to adjourn without passing the deficiency bill, which carries $78,000,000 for the new social security program, President Roosevelt could "carry on" until congress meets in January.

Senator Byrnes, however, said that the president lacked the authority, and that passage of the deficiency bill is necessary to prevent crippling of many agencies.

DR. H. C. WEAVER DIES SUDDENLY

Dr. Weaver had been pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church from 1910 until 1915, and of the First Methodist Episcopal church for a six year period concluded with his retirement from the ministry three years ago.

He was born in Angelica, N. Y., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Weaver, and received his early schooling there. His ambition, when a young man, was to be a physician and he pursued his medical studies at both Baltimore, Md., and Philadelphia.

Call To Ministry

Before completing his work in medicine, the young student felt a call to the ministry and immediately entered Alfred University, New York. He was graduated from there, and also from Lima Seminary and Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, both in New York state, and received his degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Oskaloosa college, in Iowa.

In September, 1901, he married Miss Helen Cogswell, of Warren, Pa., who is his only survivor. The young couple started their long service to the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church at Cherry Creek, N. Y. Then followed pastorates at Falconer, N. Y., and Corry, Pa.

It was in 1910 that Dr. Weaver received a call to the Epworth church of New Castle and served that congregation for five years, winning a host of friendships that have remained strong and true throughout the years that followed.

For four years after leaving Epworth Dr. Weaver led the Methodist Episcopal congregation in Grove City where he served Trinity church for seven years. During his pastorate in Ohio the new church, which is known throughout the district for its size and beauty, was constructed.

Returning to New Castle Dr. Weaver served as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church for six years. Concluding 34 years as a minister of the gospel, Dr. Weaver retired three years, after suffering a nervous breakdown.

After leaving the pastorate of the First church he and his wife resided on Englewood avenue. More recently they had moved to their new home on Fairfield.

As Dr. Weaver had been almost in his usual health and had been walking around his home during Sunday, his death came as a great shock to his wife and many friends.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and he will be laid to rest in the Oak Park mausoleum.

Until early Wednesday afternoon the body will be at the late residence.

MOSCOW SILENT ON U. S. PROTEST

Ambassador William C. Bullitt was closely watching the proceedings of the recent congress of the Communist International, and no at-nist International, and no at-nist temples were made to keep secret the reports of Earl Browder and other American delegates on Red boring in America.

No official statement will be made, it was expected, until a reply to the protest is sent to Washington, although the official press may be inspired to comment. Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff is in Gomsim, and in his absence Nikolai Krestinsky, to whom Ambassador Bullitt handed the protest yesterday, would say nothing.

Opinion here, despite the outspoken charge that the Soviet government was well aware of world Communist activities centering in the U. S. S. R., was that the situation had not yet reached a stage where American withdrawal of recognition was imminent.

In some quarters it was pointed out that formal relations between the two countries had accomplished little in the way of increasing trade, since the Soviets cannot, or will not, buy any great quantities from the United States without a loan.

The body has been removed to the Ritchie funeral home. The time of the funeral has not been set.

SMITH'S

ITALY'S THREAT WORRIES BRITAIN

Neuralgia will sail late this week with some thousand men for Malta and Aden.

Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign minister, is due to confer with the war minister and first lord of the admiralty on further steps tomorrow.

He is also due then to see James P. Pope of Idaho, who repeated that he seeks information only in a private capacity.

British newspapers expressed disbelief at Mussolini's statement that his colonial desires are limited to Abyssinia.

The newspaper "people" said that the British cabinet has already been informed that, after Mussolini annexes Abyssinia, "he will demand that Britain cede Malta and Cyprus to Italy, and that Britain should abandon her present rights in Egypt, thus leaving the way free for Mussolini to grab that country."

Another shock for Britain readers was the account in Reynolds' illustrated news that sub-postmasters throughout Britain have just received orders entitled "partial or general mobilization." They were ordered, the paper said, "in view of the present emergency, to accept military telegrams without prepayment."

Authorities of his majesty's stationery office said the orders had been circulated "in error."

PRESIDENT IS OPPOSED TO LOAN "RIDERS"

Roosevelt, it was stated authoritatively, believes he can find funds elsewhere to carry on the work until January.

The house may pass a new resolution for adjournment today, again putting the issue up to the senate.

Asked whether he is acting in accord with Mr. Roosevelt, chairman Buchanan said:

"I have reason to believe not only that the president feels this way but that many other sensible men that fright inspired their departure.

Mr. Dominick is survived by three sons, Tony, Sylvester and Samuel; one daughter, Pauline, at home, and one sister, in Italy.

He had been an employee of the P. & L. E. railroad for the past 32 years, and was a member of the Columbus society and St. Lucy's church.

Buchanan indicated the administration's nine-cent cotton loan policy is designed to recapture export cotton markets.

"It will ruin the south to keep the price of cotton above the world price for export," he said. "The export market has practically been destroyed."

"The government has 5,000,000 bales piled up. If the policy is continued another year 5,000,000 more will pile up. What hope is there for the cotton producer under such conditions?"

Congress will pass a law prepared by a New Deal expert, but it won't endure the humiliation of having him explain what it means.

Since we have invited the public to our showroom to inspect the different makes and styles of caskets we have learned two things in particular.

First one was, how anxious people are to see and inspect the merchandise that they are sure to need at some time but which has always been kept in the dark both in regard to prices and styles until the time when the purchaser is in such a frame of mind that they are unable to make a distinction in this merchandise.

Another thing we learned was, how little the public in general knew about the merchandise that they will be compelled at some time to purchase for their friends.

We feel that we have taken the right step in this matter and insist more than ever that the public come in and inspect this merchandise regardless of who their Funeral Director is as they will receive the same courteous treatment and no questions will be asked.

ROLE OF CRITICISM

DEPLORING current criticism of public administration, an anonymous official declares that the faith of the people in governmental institutions is being undermined.

Well, what would this defender of the status quo recommend? A few liberal coats of whitewash? Silence in the face of irresponsible rule, wanton corruption and unlimited graft?

The fact is that democracy needs continuing criticism if it is to be spared the fate of moral decay and inner deterioration.

One may fairly demand that critics shall be motivated by an honest regard for public welfare. But one cannot logically assert that officialdom should be free from such censure as is merited by faithless betrayal of the public trust.

THE LOVE APPLE

Murder and the proper appreciation of the fruits of the field seem incongruous subjects but in Virginia jurisprudence they can be allied. In the Supreme Court of Appeals of the state that produced so many presidents the tomato is still a fruit as it was in the early days when it was called a love apple and was not deemed good eating. What the murder case was all about is not so important. The main point is: Is a tomato a fruit?

To the housewife who opens a can of tomatoes and serves them as a vegetable, along with potatoes with their jackets on, the love apple seems somehow not to accord with the occasion. The tomato as we know it has traveled far from love-apple days. It was at one time a peculiarly sour, hard and unlovely thing, but today olericulture has transformed it into one of the most useful, the most generally favored of side dishes. The tomato is good as is, in slices covered with mayonnaise, baked whole or gently fried to lusciousness. Nobody ever treated a mere love apple that way. There even was a time, investigation reveals, when the love apple was deemed "poisonous" by our remotest ancestors. Civilization, so often decried, has something to say for itself.

Before this very foundational question even the long-disputed pronunciation of tomato sinks into insignificance. Call it tomatto, to-mayto, tomatte and delicate sounds in between, the greater issue is, is it a fruit or a vegetable? And then, what of it? Go ahead and call it a love apple as Virginian judiciary does if you so like. The main thing is that it is peculiarly toothsome at this time. Eat it, and be thankful.

TALLER THAN GRANDFATHER

A common impression is that of old men grew to be giants, beside whom the present generation is a race of near-pigmies. Recent inquiries at our colleges, however, bring to light the fact that the Harvard student of today is two inches taller than his grandfather and that much the same results have been disclosed in women's colleges.

On the other hand, the anthropologists are inclined to argue that increases and decreases move in cycles. Growth has been the rule for the past hundred years but it is thought that there seems to be a slowing off at present. An interesting statement comes from abroad—that Roman and Scottish armor is too small for the average soldier now joining the army.

Scientists in various departments of knowledge are discovering so many conditions to startle the unwary that one hesitates to draw general conclusions from any of their findings.

Ethiopia may double-cross those Italian chemists by breaking out with a modern army in shoes.

It would be interesting to know just what the King of Italy thinks about the Ethiopian war, not that it matters.

"I've called to collect some back payments on your antique furniture."

"I never bought any antique furniture on the installment plan."

"Well, maybe it wasn't antique when you bought it."

ALL SHE CAN

The bargaining for a cow had been going on leisurely for an hour. Finally the prospective purchaser came flatly to the point.

"How much milk does she give?"

"I don't rightly know," answered the farmer who owned her, "but she's a good natured critter, and she'll give all she can."

SUCH NERVE

Only one untoward incident marred the opening of railroad week in Topeka, Kas. A nice, motherly-looking old lady walked into the railroad offices and appealed for funds to finance a trip to Bagnell, Mo. She needed just four more dollars, she said, to see her poor old grand-mother.

The kind-hearted railroad men, on their best behavior anyway, quickly collected the $4. The old lady was immensely pleased. "All I have to do now," she said, "is get downtown and find out when I can get a bus for Bagnell."

GOOD WORK REQUIRES GOOD SLEEP

Ever notice the difference in the condition of persons when they report for work in the morning.

Some come reluctantly and unwillingly take up their positions at the particular job for which they're responsible.

There is a spirit of dissatisfaction because they must work to live.

Half-heartedly they begin their labors, working with the thought that they will not do any more than is necessary to hold the job.

But what a different picture some other workers present.

Their voices carry a happy tone; their eyes are bright; they are ready and anxious to start.

They are joyful that a job exists for them.

They appreciate the privilege of work.

They are glad to have strength enough to perform their labors.

Too many find starting work in the morning an irksome task because they are not in proper condition for it.

Too little sleep and too much dissipation make them too weary to enjoy work.

An hilarious night and the necessity for showing up on the job the next day make a very unsatisfactory combination.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

Friends arrive, and all is laughter. Greetings warm and welcoming kisses.

What if partings come soon after? There's no joy so real as this. Carry in the grips and cases!

Lightest task of all the summer. Smiles of joy light all our faces. As we welcome every comer.

Friends arrive with shouts of gladness.

As we hurry out to meet them. Here's the cure for all life's sadness: Stretch the table out to seat them!

This is how we feel about them: Lonely, so we couldn't bear it. Think of place would be without them!

It is kept for friends to share it.

Friends depart! The hours are fleeting!

Done the laughter and the playing. Where we gave a hearty greeting. Now a sad farewell we're saying. Homeward bound, the visit ended.

Now our only thought alas; Is: Thus with joy and sadness blended Every year the summer passes.

News That Generally Escapes
Banking Bill Is Generous
Strikes In Germany Baffling

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, August 26.—Headlines were given to the forced testimony of Howard C. Hoxton before the senate lobby investigating committee that he and his family had drawn profits of $3,187,000 from the Associated Gas & Electric system in no-dividend years, and that profits since 1922 of Hoxton and an aide possibly were $29,390,000—through stock manipulation. But the most recent avalanche of protests from stockholders was against another utilities' holding company, American Power & Light. It omitted preferred dividends while profits were rising.

The omission of dividends was believed to have been a warning to stockholders to oppose the utility holding company bill. It didn't work.

VAST CREDIT POWERS
Wall street is just beginning to realize vast credit powers given to the federal government under the banking bill that was passed.

Here are a few lines from the Wall Street Journal which tell the story:

"The bill 'opens the way to vast credit expansion, particularly in the real estate field, and at the same time gives a highly centralized authority more powerful brakes than ever before existed in this country.'"

"The power to name at one time the entire membership of the supreme court of finance is comparable in many ways to the influence and responsibility that would be the president's if he were suddenly given the right to appoint an entirely new United States supreme court."

"The chief objective of the administration, to centralize responsibility for the three major instruments of credit control, has been pretty well realized, notwithstanding reams of discussion about compromises."

STRIKES IN GERMANY
It is dangerous for labor to strike in Germany, but there have been strikes.

A correspondent of the Manchester, England, Guardian writes: "There have been at least a dozen strikes in Germany since the end of May, most of them in Westphalia, and the authorities have, on the whole, been at rather a loss how to deal with them. The demands of the workmen have usually been granted on condition that secrecy was observed. The Nazi dictatorship evidently hopes to prevent the strike movement from spreading by hushing it up, but news of the strikes spreads everywhere, none the less."

"The conflict between the working class and the dictatorship has put the Nazi Labor Front into a severe predicament. The Labor Front was created to replace the trade unions, which were totally destroyed in 1933. It has a strong bias in favor of the employers, but so as not to estrange the workmen, it goes in for a certain amount of anti-capitalist demagoguery and sometimes harasses the employers, who, on the whole, regard it as a nuisance. Both the workmen and the employers could do better without it, especially the workmen. It is really an instrument of Nazi domination, and serves no purpose analogous to that of the former trade unions or of the old employers' organizations."

"When there is a strike the Labor Front usually tries to lecture and pacify the men, telling them that, whatever happens, the outside world must not know.

"The atmosphere in Germany is growing more and more sinister. The dictatorship will, so it is felt, nit out ruthlessly before the end of the year. Intelligent workmen especially those who belonged to the old Socialist, Communist, and Center (Catholic) parties, are fully aware that it will, sooner or later, have to make up its mind how it will deal with labor unrest. An ever greater number of workmen is convinced that a real trial of strength will come and that an organized working-class attack on the Nazis will be possible some time, although not yet. The Nazis themselves are waiting the autumn and, still more, the winter with some apprehension."

PANAMA NEGOTIATES
Panama has been negotiating for a new treaty which would eliminate American army dominance.

Nelson Rounsavell, publisher of the Panama American, who was arrested on charges of libel when he stepped from Panama to soil of the Canal Zone, has remained in jail in preference to obtaining $2,500 bail.

He thus is arousing Latin Americans against Americans.

The libel charges were placed against him by Major General Harold B. Fiske, commanding the Panama Canal Army department, and Colonel James V. Heidt, commandant at Fort Clayton. The action now is said to have been one of the worst diplomatic blunders in years.

It proves, also, what occurs when military officers take government and diplomacy into their own hands.

Yet the disaffection bills passed before congress recently would make it an offense punishable by imprisonment even to criticize the administration of military officers, no matter how incompetent they may be. That is, provided the criticism were construed as causing "disaffection"—and there is little doubt it would be so construed.

Rounsavell had published that attempted suicide of Fort Clayton were due to "intolerable conditions," which "drove the men to desperation."

Instead of opening the fort to an impartial inspection, the army officers waited until the editor stepped into Balboa, which is governed by the army, and had him arrested.

Absurdity was reached, importers say, in the red tape which surrounded collection of duties levied against imported cotton goods to compensate for the 42 cent processing tax levied on domestic goods.

In one case, a valuable shipment of pearls was held up for several days while government statisticians figured out the fractional cent duty due on the cotton contained in the string on which the jewels were strung.

In another instance, delivery of an expensive oil painting was delayed a week or more while federal mathematicians estimated the compensating duty due on the canvas.

Earle To See War Maneuvers At Indiantown

Governor Will Witness "Big War Game", Training Drills Prove Interesting

(International News Service)
INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 26.—National guardsmen from Pennsylvania and Maryland, together with 3,000 regulars from the U. S. army, today began living the life of soldiers "at the front" during a war.

All unnecessary frills of existence were abolished and the citizens and regular soldiers massed for "a forced march" beginning tomorrow night which will signalize the start of the "big push" against the enemy which has been stopped at the Susquehanna river.

Gov. George H. Earle, commander-in-chief of the 28th division stationed here, was expected to arrive in camp to witness the mimic warfare, climax of the two-weeks training period.

Orders went out to all units of the 28th division here and today the 29th division at Mt. Gretna today to begin an advance under cover of darkness tomorrow night. The object of the maneuver is to capture or destroy the invaders who moved in from Harrisburg.

Battle Wednesday.
The "battle" will begin Wednesday morning on a wide front stretching out through this Blue Mountain sector. Scouting parties spent all of the first week in camp studying the enemy forces, their strength and their position in preparation for the big push this week. Several minor skirmishes already have taken place but the enemy has been strengthening its forces.

The last training for the mimic warfare was staged yesterday while 40,000 spectators massed into the encampment to witness the event, the firing of the big artillery guns. All day the rumble continued as the huge guns belched, their shots echoing through the mountains, firing at targets set up along the side of the hills.

Quiet On Sunday.
Aside from the artillery practice, the encampment was quiet yesterday. Infantrymen and other units had no work to do and most of the citizen soldiers spent the day escorting visitors around the camp. Religious services were held in the open fields, attended by men in uniform, their sweethearts, wives, mothers and fathers and friends.

At dinner, nearly four tons of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, string beans and other trimmings were disposed of by the hungry soldiers.

Miller Candidate For City Council

Fourth Ward Man Announces Candidacy For Republican Nomination

I. J. MILLER

In announcing my candidacy for the office of city council, I do so with the full knowledge that the next four years will call for sound business ability and plenty of hard work on the part of city council.

We have lost some $60,000 of revenue in taxes on account of the Carnegie Steel Mill leaving, and this must be made up somewhere. The big need of the hour is to supply jobs for more people, and in order to get more jobs, we must have more factories, and to get more factories we must offer some inducements to manufacturers to locate here. When that is done, we will have less unemployment. The only way we can make up for this current loss of revenue is to go out and get this business.

One thing that this city as well as all others needs, is office holders who will be real servants of the public. Too many office holders when they get in office, begin to scheme and build their fences for another term. They thus lose sight of the real purpose for which they were elected, namely to serve the city and not themselves. If nominated and elected to the office of city council, my one greatest aim will be to serve the public. I will not be building fences for the next campaign.

If you who have read this announcement, believe these things to be true and are willing to see these plans put into effect, I ask your co-operation by your vote and support at the primaries on September 17, 1935.

I am a candidate for city council on the Republican ticket. I am a property owner in the Fourth Ward, a business man, and have a family.

I thank you, I. J. MILLER.

Engineers Have Annual Outing

Mahoning-Shenango Engineers Society Members Have Big Day Saturday

Once a year the engineers of the Mahoning-Shenango Engineers society get off by themselves and enjoy an afternoon of fellowship and good food. Saturday was the day for this year and a fish fry was the order of the day at the pump station of the New Castle Water company.

In addition to the engineers from the New Castle chapter there were present men from Youngstown, Sharon and Ellwood City. Flocks of bass cooked outdoors, roasting ears, buns and the condiments that go with them were on the menu and the engineers did justice to the fare served.

A short sports program was enjoyed by J. H. winning the fat men's race, Lockley and Staley winning the three-legged race, H. F. Lohman the putting contest, Harry Gibson and E. Davenport the egg tossing contest, Hap Gill won the chicken chasing contest by capturing two of the chickens and Andrews and Hughes won the horse shoe pitching contest.

In the tug-of-war "Odds" won the tug and a claim of dirty work at the cross roads is being mailed to somebody or other. The day was a typical engineers' outing, full of pleasure from noon until dark.

Indians To Roam In Gaston Park

Pagant To Conclude Summer Playground Work On Friday

Indians will be roaming Gaston Park Friday evening, August 30. Blackfeet braves with tomahawks and blood curdling yells, but its all going to be just good clean fun. The occasion will be the concluding pagant of the summer playground work sponsored by the Emergency Educational Relief Council of which Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools is the chairman.

The pagant promises to be the most colorful outdoor spectacle since the kermess of some eight years ago. Presented in Gaston Park one of the most beautiful scenic spots in Western Pennsylvania, the pagant will be but a throwback to the days when Indians actually named the hills out there.

In the past four years the park has been improved vastly, due to the work of the CWA and the RWD. Walks have been built, bridges and dams constructed, trees taken care of and many new trees planted. Under the direction of Owen P. Fox, city forester the park has been converted into a wonderful recreation park and those who have not been there for several years are invited to attend the pagant and see for themselves what has been done.

At six o'clock a basket picnic will be held to which everybody is invited to come. The pagant will place at eight o'clock and there will be no admission. Flares will be used for lighting the pagant and the very illumination of the red and blue flares will add to the beauty of the pagant itself.

The pagant will wind up the summer work on the playgrounds. Some unusual work has been done this summer and the citizens are invited to attend and enjoy an evening of recreation and enlightenment.

ATTORNEY RESIGNS RELIEF POSITION

(International News Service)
BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 26.—Declaring the Fayette county relief administration was inefficient, Attorney H. Vance Cotton today had announced his resignation as a member of the county relief board.

In a letter to Robert L. Johnson, state relief director, Cotton declared the condition of Fayette county's administration was "deplorable," that Director H. H. Peterson was "wholly incompetent," and that members of the county relief board had no power and were "more or less tools by which the executive director could place the responsibility."

Former Volant College Students Visit Galbreaths

Make Trip To Rogers, Ohio, On Saturday—About 60 In Motor Party

A most joyous affair of Saturday and one of the most successful of the season, was the motorcade led by the Rev. Frank S. Brenneman, of this city, which wended its way from the First Presbyterian church, of this city, to the beautiful home of Prof. and Mrs. Asher A. Galbreath at Rogers, O., carrying alumni members and former students of Volant College, to honor the Galbreaths at a party of an informal nature.

The occasion was a means of showing high esteem to this distinguished couple, and too, to celebrate their birthday anniversaries which occurred recently. Dinner was served at the appointed hour, 4:30 p. m., to the original gathering of students who were seated at a special table on the spacious lawn overshadowed by huge magnolia and pine trees.

They were joined by others from Butler, Sharon, Mercer, Pittsburgh, Alliance, O., Cleveland, O., and Grove City.

The whole assemblage stood on top of a knoll at the Galbreath home and waved white handkerchiefs to their guests of honor as they approached the scene. Perfect weather added much to the success of the day, planned and instigated by Mrs. Scott B. Hamilton, who also arranged a "Memory Book" two years ago in honor of Prof. and Mrs. Galbreath.

After partaking of the sumptuous dinner menu, a meeting was called to order by Reid English, president. Rev. Frank S. Brenneman presided and called on each member of the school organization who gave impromptu one minute talks. Messages were read and telegrams, too, from those unable to be present.

Both Prof. and Mrs. Galbreath, the latter of whom was mathematics instructor and dean of the school for several years, were showered with handsome gifts as remembrances of their birthdays. They responded graciously.

The table committee which performed its duties so efficiently, was composed of Mrs. Henry Anderson, chairman, Miss Mary Minnehan, Miss Nancy McConahy, Mrs. Olive McCracken Scott, Mrs. Linna King Smith, Mrs. Bertha Hunter McCoy. The men who assisted were Attorney Homer Drake, Alex McConahy, Guy Lockhart and George W. Patterson. Eighty-five places were laid with sixty-three of these being arranged at the guests' of honor table.

An informal social period of renewing friendships, and further extending good tidings and congratulations to their hosts, Prof. and Mrs. Galbreath, brought this delightful day of festivities to an end.

Relief Rolls Are Increased

Announce 31,191 More Persons Added To State Relief Rolls During Week

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Relief Administrator Robert L. Johnson today reported the addition of 31,191 persons to Pennsylvania's relief rolls for the week ending August 17, the third consecutive weekly increase.

The increase, Johnson said, was "due primarily to the needy condition of former work relief families not yet able to obtain jobs under the W. P. A. program."

New applications for aid, however, dropped 3,276 between August 12 and August 17, from the number received the previous week. The new total was 15,950.

Direct relief expenditures for the week increased $77,842.61, reaching a total of $3,329,297.72, the administrator reported. Relief cases throughout the state showed a net increase of 7,443.

County Officials Pass Buck On Races

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 26.—Despite the threat of Attorney Ray L. Thomas to enjoin the dog races at Canfield the races went on as scheduled Saturday night while county officials "passed the buck" on responsibility for stopping the pari-mutuel betting.

Thomas, who threatened an injunction at noon Saturday unless the races were stopped by County Prosecutor J. H. Leighninger, apparently had delayed his action as the sheriff's duty to stop the betting.

The sheriff, however, has formally refused to interfere at Canfield and remained "out" to reporters.

Girl Scouts Return Home

Crowd Of Girls Vacate Camp
Phillips; Have Party
Saturday Night

On Sunday morning 75 Girl Scouts returned to their homes after two weeks at Camp John M. Phillips. With them were about 20 women who have been their supervisors.

The last night at camp was celebrated in a most fitting manner with an innovation in the shape of a birthday party. The supper was served at most beautifully decorated tables with corsage bouquets for the council members and counselors.

Each person had a miniature birthday cake with a tiny green candle on it. The toast to the campers was given by Miss Alice Freeman, and the response to the counselors was given in verse by Peggy England of the Gypsy Unit, "Lindy" (Miss Audrielle Lynch) made a few fitting remarks as did the camp chairman.

Mrs. Weller, the head swimming counselor, read the name of those who had progressed in swimming. The beginners who received their buttons are: Rita Metz, Norma Dixon, Betty Robinson, Elsie Mundy, Elveta Miles, Gladys Gibson, Dawn Cartwright, Barbara Hamill and Jean Allen.

Those who progressed to the swimmers' buttons are Doris Rodgers, Helen Metz, Betty Jane Marshall, Betty Jean Kemp and Marjorie Willa Allen. Those who completed the junior life saving are: Mary Kiefer, Helen Milton, Sara Wilson, Leona Preisel, Wilda Stewart, Betty Raney, Irene Milton and Dorothy Devlin. Two girls completed their senior life saving, Louise Owen and Dorothy Robins.

Thesinging was led by Donna Jean Beall and was especially good. The greatest care is used in scouting to teach only the best of songs and this was well illustrated Saturday night.

After the dishes were washed, there was folk dancing on the green outside the mess hall. A Punch and Judy show was held at the barn which the girls greatly enjoyed. A lovely camp fire was lighted near the barn and the girls and visitors gathered around to listen to the last evening of singing. Then the girls scattered to get their milk and crackers and go to bed.

The Junior Camp Council held a meeting to report on the things desired for the next year. The new council consists of Edwina Connerly from the Gypsies; Sally Wilson from the Pioneers; Ellen Waite from the Beagulls; Wilda Stewart from the Round Tables and Betty Jean Kemp from the Sequoia Unit.

Some of the girls left Saturday night but the majority went Sunday morning.

It is announced today that a girl's green scout sweater and a pearl handled scout knife were left at the camp. Owners may retrieve them at 118 East Wallace avenue.

The weather bureau established in the pioneer unit was quite successful. The girls in charge report that they were wrong only once in the two weeks.

For the benefit of those girls who were making patches on small looms at camp, more will be ordered, it was said today, and the girls may secure them from Miss Elizabeth Reis, 318 East street, when they arrive.

Motorists Warned Of New Bus Law

County schools will soon be open and busses carrying school children will be on the highways. The new law is in effect for the first time at the opening of the coming school term. Failure to observe it means a fine of $10 and costs or not more than five days to jail.

Drastic New Milk Control Order Will Be Effective Sept. 1

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—A drastic new milk control order, bringing farmers estimated additional revenue of $3,250,000 each year without increasing prices of milk to consumers, was set forth today by the Milk Control Board. The order is effective September 1.

Outstanding among the announced changes was the outlawing of the basic surplus plan of payment to farmers and the substitution of payment according to actual use made of milk by the dealers.

In addition the new order created seven milk marketing areas, placed rural sections on a new basis of consumer prices, and continued the one cent cash and carry "differential" now in effect in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The latter permits chain stores to sell milk one cent per quart lower than the authorized minimum price for door delivery.

The per minimum quart price of Class B milk to consumers was lowered from 11 to 10 cents in "all or part" of Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Lawrence, Mercer, Monroe, Pike, Susquehanna, Washington, Wayne and Wyoming counties. An "official" increase from 10 to 11 cents per quart was authorized by the board for Berks, Lehigh and Northumberland counties where the higher price now prevails. The move was made to assure the farmer his share of the existing price.

Price Increases

The price increase to farmers for Grade B or ordinary milk in bottles will range from four to 20 cents per hundredweight in the case of milk delivered to country receiving stations. The increase is accounted for, the board said, by limiting deductions dealers may make for transportation charges.

"The basic surplus plan," the board stated, "has utterly failed its purpose to maintain prices to the farmer by controlling production. It has resulted in alarming decreases in returns to the vast majority of farmers."

Under the basic surplus plan dealers could declare what portion of milk received from farmers was surplus—not used for fluid consumption in bottles—and take uncontrolled advantage of the approximate 50 per cent lower price paid for the classification, it was asserted.

Simplification of the price structure for Grade A or "premium" milk also was ordered, bringing an average estimated increase to the farmer of 55 cents per hundredweight.

Areas Increased

Marketing areas were increased from four to seven. Areas 1 to 6 comprise all cities, incorporated boroughs, and first class townships with a population over 1,000 and within a distance of three miles from the outer corporate limits of such cities, boroughs or townships, as follows:

Area 1: Philadelphia, Bucks, Delaware, Montgomery and Chester counties; Area 2: Allegheny, Beaver, Westmoreland, Butler and Armstrong; Area 3: Berks, Lehigh and Northumberland; Area 4: Schuylkill, Carbon and that part of Northumberland south of the Susquehanna river; Area 5: Luzerne and Lackawanna and the Lackawanna valley as far north and including Forest City, Susquehanna county; Area 6: All other counties not included in above; Area 7: Rural marketing area, consisting of all parts of the state not included in areas 1 to 6, inclusive.

Numerous dealer practices which the board claimed caused the farmer-producer hardship also were wiped out by the order, among them the disallowance of deductions from farmers' milk checks without the board's special permission.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Francis John Flack of Plaingrove township, have been granted by the register and recorder to Raymond W. Flack.

Under the direction of the county commissioners Bert Dinsmore has completed improvements on the Breakneck bridge in the eastern part of the county. The commissioners tried to have the bridge replaced as a works project, but it was turned down by the grand jury.

Electing a president for one six-year term would save us from all this "window dressing" at the end of the first term. Under this plan every president would know that when his six year term expired he was through for life, regardless of how good, or bad, a president he had been.

This is the last week during which county taxes may be paid at their face, according to County Treasurer William O. Pitts. A penalty of five per cent will be added the first of September. The county commissioners will determine this week whether or not the duplicates are to be turned over to the delinquent tax collector.

Politicians may talk about changing our state constitution but it is the voters who will decide whether or not it will be done. No voter, if he is in his right mind, is going to give his permission until he knows all the details and exactly what changes are to be made. There is nothing definite offered as yet.

Indications are that there will be a small list of cases for trial at the coming term of September court. This is due partly to the fact a number of pleas have been entered, and partly because there has been less crime. The grand jury will meet on Monday, September 9, and sessions for the trial of cases on September 16 and September 23.

Some of the Home Owners Loan corporation mortgages for which applications were taken recently are now being placed on record at the register and recorder's office, but the activity is not nearly so great as it was earlier in the year. One of the reasons is that the requirements for obtaining loans have been raised, not only must the security be better than was asked at first, but more attention is paid to the ability of the mortgagor to pay. Experience has shown that there are some borrowers who believe that because they have a loan from the government, they can sit back and take things easy. Some of them are getting a rude awakening.

In order that everybody in the city may have a chance to register, Registering Clerk Thomas Edmunds has instructed the registrars that they can keep their booths open until midnight on the next registration day, if it is found necessary. The law does not prescribe any opening or closing hour. Registrars can open their booths as early as they want to, and stay open as long as they can remain awake. There are some precincts in the Second ward where it may be necessary to use dynamite to get the voters to register, but in most of the other wards, it won't be necessary to use any explosives.

County commissioners' clerk has figured out the number of ballots that will be necessary for the coming primary election. There will be a grand total of 104,715 regular ballots and 22,066 sample ballots. As there is still one registration day the number needed had to be estimated in the absence of any exact figures. This was done by taking the totals of the two registrations for each precinct and comparing them with former registrations. It is necessary to let the contract for printing the ballots as promptly as possible as it will be a big job.

The total number of Republican ballots to be printed will be 37,460, with 7,505 sample ballots. For the Democrats 11,933 ballots will be printed, with 2,460 samples. Prohibitionist, 1,245 regular and 470 samples; Socialist, 990 regular and 450 samples. In addition to the sample ballots which will be printed by the county it is likely that candidates will order a number for the education of their constituents.

In addition to the ballots mentioned above there will be a separate special ballot for use in voting on the question of whether or not the elector favors a constitutional convention. There will be 51,630 of these ballots and 10,886 samples.

In the borough of Wampum there will also be a special ballot for use in voting on a school district matter. The number required will be 750 regular and 145 samples.

Perry township will also have a special ballot on the question of the erection of a school house. It will take 750 regular and 150 sample ballots for this.

It will be noted by the above figures that there will be a total of 51,630 general election ballots, the same number of constitutional ballots, which with the special ballots for Wampum and Perry township make up the grand total of 104,715.

AROUND CITY HALL

Probabilities are that when council convenes in December to set the budget for 1936 some provision will be made for playgrounds. No provision was made for operation of any of the playgrounds this year, and only recently some of them were placed under the control of the Emergency Educational Council of the WPA. Up until the time this occurred some children used some of the playgrounds, but there was no supervision.

One of the problems council will have to face in December is to arrange for sufficient money to pay for at least six or seven firemen, and perhaps several new policemen, due to the state law which allows each fireman and policeman a day of rest in every seven. The police department has operated with less than its quota for four years.

PRESIDENT SEEKS TO SPEED UP WORK RELIEF

Instructions Are Given For Speed

September 12 Is Set As Deadline For Filing Applications For Funds

WANTS TO PROVIDE JOBS FOR MILLIONS

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt today moved to force the work-relief program into high gear soon enough to assure the bulk of 3,500,000 unemployed men and women jobs by winter.

He set September 12 as the absolute deadline for filing applications for funds from his $4,880,000,000 appropriation. The advisory committee on allotments will hold its final meeting September 17 and no bids for federal money will be considered thereafter.

All federal, state and municipal agencies have been directed to be prepared on or before October 22 either to ask for funds for construction work or begin operations with direct labor under what are known as "force accounts."

Where projects are to be carried on under contracts, such contracts must be awarded and signed by December 15.

Instructions Sent

Instructions to this effect have been sent to all members of the cabinet and the heads of all government agencies that have had an allocation of funds from the huge appropriation in the president's keeping.

An additional letter was addressed to Secretary of Interior Ickes in his capacity of public works administrator directing that all future PWA applications for allocations and all cancellations, revisions and modifications must be submitted to the advisory committee on allotments for approval or rejection.

In addition to his determination to get better than 3,000,000 employable off the direct relief rolls by the time snow flies, Mr. Roosevelt's speed-up order was said to have been inspired by the predictions of his opponents that political capital was to be made of the four-billion-dollar fund. The president has stated on several occasions that the money was going to be spent with utmost speed and not held until next year's campaign gets under way.

In addition to the cabinet, those receiving the new instructions included the administrators of work progress, public works, resettlement, rural electrification, veterans' affairs, and Puerto Rico reconstruction; the chairman of the civil service commission; the director of emergency conservation work and the chairman of the U. S. employees' compensation commission.

Rotarians Hear Revision Issue Discussed At Noon

Attorney W. Walter Braham Gives Fine Address To Club Members

Without presenting any personal opinion as to the merit or lack of merit in the present constitutional revision issue, Attorney W. Walter Braham discussed the issue today before the Rotary club at its noon day meeting in the Castleton hotel.

After discussing previous constitutions in his introduction Mr. Braham presented the reasons advanced by advocates of revision and the arguments advanced by the opponents of revision. The need for clarification of the right of the legislature to pass certain laws now clouded with uncertainty, the possibilities of consolidation of political sub-divisions these and a host of other points now under public scrutiny.

The address was an intelligent discussion of a subject most laymen are not familiar with and the crowd gave Mr. Braham a round of applause for his talk. He was introduced by Rotarian Elwood Gilbert.

Democratic State Candidates Coming

Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna, chairman of the Democratic county committee, is arranging for a reception to Democratic state candidates at the Castleton Hotel next Thursday evening. The guests will be H. Edgar Barnes, candidate for supreme court and Robt. L. Myers, Jr., candidate for superior court.

Ancient Lemuria.
A CCC Camp On Shasta.
Discipline, Good Work.
The Rest Of The World.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

McCLOUD, CAL., Aug. 26.—Mount Shasta is called the Rosicrucian mountain, by many who believe in Rosicrucian doctrines that would puzzle some. They tell of a lost continent called Lemuria, in the Pacific that vanished.

A few Rosicrucian Lemurians, hundreds of thousands of years old, survived, and now live in secret caves on the side of Mount Shasta. Sometimes, in strange costumes, with flowing, golden hair, they appear, tall, dignified, speaking a language not understood, at local stores. They are welcome because they select what they want, always overpaying in gold nuggets, never taking any change.

THEY HAVE STRANGE powers, demagnetize your automobile so that it cannot run, if you come too near, or with gentle, irresistible power push you back. Lemuria is a complimentary name for those ancient, since the Lemur, according to Darwin, is about the lowest kind of monkey, respectable, but far down in the scale.

All interesting gibberish, but no worse than statements made in the name of some strange religious beliefs on earth, believed by millions.

CONSIDER the sincere Mohammedan, who believes that his prophet, pressed in battle, threw a handful of dust and a prayer to Allah into the air, and immediately the dust was changed into a legion of angels on horseback, fighting on Mohammed's side. No Rosicrucian could beat that.

YOU MAY SEE at Mount Shasta's foot, something real, more important than any Lemuria, at the "Mud Creek" project, where the government is fighting floods from the glacier, that causes sudden dangerous torrents.

For a change you will hear of a CCC camp well managed, and young CCC men working loyally, under competent army officers and efficient civilian superintendents.

CEMENT LINED canals, and reinforced overflow dams will compel the muddy glacier floods to behave. The young men, working for a dollar a day, and board, are good workers, well behaved, a majority working, stripped to the waist, look like men made of bronze.

Perfect discipline is preserved at the camp by Capt. Watson of the United States army, assisted by Lieut. Cotton and Duncan.

R. J. Jackson, a typically efficient young American engineer, superintends the work, keeps it moving, lining canals, first with reinforced wire, then with cement sprayed on. Huge caterpillars pushing "bulldozers" ahead of them rip out the manzanita bush and saplings and a ditch digger coming behind cuts out the canal with sloping sides. Mr. Jackson works with his men and praises them, instead of criticizing and complaining. That helps.

IT IS FINE WORK, admirably done. The young men delight in the use of machinery, quickly become efficient and manage the machines with care.

There are, of course, opposed to machinery, that would like to see the young men banking their backs with pick axes and shovels. They should live in ancient Lemuria. They had no machines there, presumably. That admirable "Mud Creek" project, telling the rushing torrent "thus far shalt thou go and no farther," will keep the glacier's mud from polluting the beautiful McCloud river, and the thousands of magnificent springs that roar down the steep mountains, to join the McCloud in its trip to the ocean.

WHAT OF THE WORLD that spreads out around Mount Shasta, a huge round ball? There is trouble, or fear of trouble all over it. Photographs from China show a Communist village, literally blown to matchwood by cannon fire, and a captured Communist, chained to the executioner with wide, heavy head-cutting knife standing behind him. Five minutes after that picture was taken, the head was off. If Russia got the man with the head cutter his head would come off.

In the California newspapers you see photographs of Communists, still covered with tar and feathers applied by committees of Vigilantes. That war spreads over wide territory.

DIRECTOR CARLETON of the Federal Transient Service in California announces "no more transients without money wanted."

The door is tight shut. By newspaper and broadcast, warnings will be issued "persons without means of support, stay away from California." Any that come hereafter will be returned to their home states. The influx has amounted to one thousand a day, and California has carried the heaviest relief load because thousands of penniless families from other states have overrun this state.

CALIFORNIA'S VIGILANTES' attack on extreme radicals is thoroughly organized under a central command, with details of handpicked rifle marksmen, intelligence squads, and strong arm squads.

The American Civil Liberties Union will bring suit on behalf of alleged Communists, tarred and feathered, and offers $1,000 reward for the conviction of any Vigilante of felony. The Vigilantes declare their intention to wear no masks or disguise, saying:

"We shall pick up our men in broad daylight. The whole country is behind us."

The Ethiopian Negus, Emperor Selassie's real title, offers a whole province to Mussolini, and decrees instant death for any Ethiopian attacking an Italian—anything for peace.

The Persian king offered Alexander his daughter, more gold than ten elephants could carry, half his land. Parmenion told Alexander:

"If I were Alexander I should accept the offer."

"So should I if I were Parmenion," was Alexander's reply, but being Alexander, he drove the poor king to his death and took all. Mussolini probably will take all.

VERY ENLIGHTENING, for those ignorant of the real Ethiopia, are the Associate Press dispatches telling you:

"The Ethiopian king personally directed a roundup of beggars, LEPROSERS AND CHAINED DEBTORS on Addis Ababa streets, and their removal to prevent offense to foreigners."

"He sent his secretary sloshing through the mud of the capital's streets to the Italian legation to express his personal sympathy to Baron Muzzi Falconi, the Italian consul, accidentally wounded by his own revolver."

WILL JOSEPH V. CONNOLLY, of International News Service, please order photographs of these "chained debtors" that are to be cleared from Addis Ababa streets. They should be as enlightening as pictures of Dickens "debtors prison."

Greer Announces Candidacy Today

Former City Controller A Candidate For Republican Nomination For City Treasurer

PHIL G. GREER

Phil G. Greer, 16 West Moody avenue, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for city treasurer. Mr. Greer is a former city controller and deputy city treasurer and knows the mechanics of the city treasurer's office thoroughly. In his statement of announcement he says:

"In selecting a city treasurer it seems to me that there is just one thing for the voters to consider, is the candidate qualified experience to handle the people's money efficiently?"

"My only answer to that question is that I have served as deputy city treasurer and for six years served the citizens of New Castle as city controller. My work in those offices is open for inspection and needs no comment here."

I offer no political promises in seeking the Republican nomination. My candidacy is not the candidacy of a clique or organization. If the taxpayers wish to place in the office one who has had experience I submit my candidacy for their consideration on September 17."

Rev. Withers Gives Sermon Sunday Night

West Pittsburg M. E. Pastor Is In Charge; Final Service Next Sunday

Rev. R. B. Withers, pastor of the West Pittsburg Methodist Episcopal church, and chairman of the park service committee of the New Castle Ministerial association, delivered the sermon Sunday night at the union church service in Cascade park.

Rev. Withers had arranged for a special musical program as a part of the service, featuring the park brass quartet, a special male quartet from the People's Mission, a trio of radio singers from Erie, and a boys' quintet.

It was an unusually enjoyable and inspiring program and included a trombone and trumpet duet, a trombone solo, and a request number, "The Lost Chord," by the brass quartet. The congregation sang "I Need Thee Every Hour."

Prayer was led by Rev. A. C. Gibson, formerly of the City Mission, now of Kinzua. Rev. Withers was in charge of the scripture lesson.

His sermon, which followed, was developed from the subject "Is America Thinking Pink?" Rev. Withers used his text, "Though Your Sins Be As Scarlet, They Shall Be As Snow." He dealt with his subject in relationship to the great moral code of the Ten Commandments, in relationship to respect paid to fathers and mothers, in relationship to murder, adultery, honesty, and the atonement of Jesus Christ.

"Are we thinking politically?" he asked. "We do not want an out and out communist state but would we accept some pink form of it?"

His address was of unusual interest and furnished much food for thought. Next Sunday the final union outdoor service at the park will be conducted. Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, and president of the New Castle Ministerial association, will deliver the sermon. This will be a special Labor Day service. Weather permitting, it will be at the park, otherwise at the First Christian church on the public square.

LONG ASSUMES HIS NEW DUTIES

As was predicted in The News some weeks ago, James R. Long has been named as internal revenue collector for New Castle, vice Paul B. McCandless, who was dismissed from the service about 60 days ago.

Book-Leyde Service Is Subject To Each Family's Decision

While the funeral director should proceed in accordance with his knowledge of what must be done to comply with laws and established custom, there are many points upon which the wishes of the family may express their individual desires. It is the practice of this organization to defer to the wishes of the family. The funeral is their tribute to a loved one and should, so far as possible, reflect their desires. From our years of experience we can furnish guidance where needed or asked, but we have no fixed pattern for a service to which all must comply.

Old Timers Beat Pastime A. C. 6-5

Large Crowd Witnesses Game At Frisco On Sunday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Pastime A. C. baseball team got a neat surprise yesterday afternoon when they defeated by the Old Timers 6-5 at Frisco. A huge crowd witnessed the event and cheered the Old Timers on to victory.

A number of surprise plays were pulled on the Pastime. A. C. They had a man on first and third. On the next pitch the runner endeavored to steal second and at the same time the runner on third started for home. Instead of throwing the ball to the second baseman, catcher "Sing" McDonald pegged to the short stop who threw it back and thus trapping the runner between third and home. He was put out in short order.

"Doc" Shaffer and Jim McCune shared the pitching duties and both were reliable in critical moments. The rotund Cy McAllister and Steve McKinney were on first and third respectively and provided some laughter with their belabored efforts. Archie Powell was at right field and Syl Ferucci played a good all around game for the Old Timers.

Ellwood Boy Seriously Hurt

Alleged Hit-Run Driver Is Sought For Perry Highway Accident

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—An alleged hit-run driver was sought by authorities today for questioning in connection with an accident on the Perry highway, in the suburban Perryville district, in which a six-year-old Ellwood City boy was seriously injured.

The boy, Patsy Mastro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mastro, was reported near death today in St. Francis hospital here from injuries suffered when the car of a cousin, Nick Mastro of nearby Homewood, collided with another at a highway intersection, Sunday night.

Two other children of the Mastro, Mary, 15, and Philip, aged 4, reported missing after the crash, were found safely at home, taken there by friends while the parents remained in Pittsburgh. The father, mother and three children as well as Nick Mastro and a friend, were all in the car at the time, but only the boy was injured when the other automobile rammed it near where he sat.

Suffering from nose and head lacerations and a possible fractured skull, Patsy was rushed to the hospital by a passing motorist after the other driver sped away.

Emlenton Nine Defeat Ellwood

Error And Free Trips To Plate Give Visitors 5-0 Victory

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Saturday afternoon the Ellwood Merchants nine was shut out by the fast Emlenton team 5-0 at Ewing Park.

Until the sixth inning the team went scoreless. Then Landgraf, Ellwood hurler, blew up and walked four men, three of them in succession. This wildness with a home run by Hergenrother with two on the bases produced four runs for Emlenton. In the ninth the visitors hit Gunnet to produce one more run for a total of five.

These five runs were more than enough to win since the Merchants failed to make a run with their four hits. Emlenton combed Gunnet and Landgraf for a total of nine safeties.

BLUNT WARNING GIVEN TO SOVIET BY WASHINGTON

indignation. This was fanned by revelation of the boasting of American communist leaders, to their Moscow bosses, of their progress in this country.

Attend Congress
Half a dozen or more of these renegade plotters were listed as attending a world congress of communist workers at Moscow which has just terminated. Among these were Earl Browder, general secretary of the communist party in the United States; Samuel Dardeck, alias Darcy, district organizer with headquarters at San Francisco, Gilbert Greenberg, alias Gil Green, American secretary of the young communist league; Caruthers, believed here to be Benjamin Caruthers, section organization at Pittsburgh, James W. Ford, Harlem organizer, William Z. Foster, communist chairman in the United States, Martha Stone, section organizer, and others not so nationally known.

Browder's speech, copies of which have been transmitted to the United States, was a blanket claim of communist credit for nearly every type of unrest witnessed in this country recently.

Boast Of Action
He boasted that his workers had organized the unemployed on a national scale, had assisted in Upton Sinclair's "epic" political campaign, had organized negro unrest, and led in demonstrations against state police in Georgia and Alabama, the latter in connection with the so-called Scottsboro case.

Among other claims Browder said "the party actively led the movement of youth. We established a united front of the communist youth and socialist youth in a number of progressive youth organizations."

Dardeck definitely tied the communist plotters with the widespread San Francisco general strike of a year ago. He hinted at the present deadlock on the coast, among seamen and dock workers, when he said:

"During the strike we laid the foundations for ties with the unions of foreign sailors and dock workers (Australia and Holland) and their solidarity and assistance evoked a tremendous enthusiasm among our workers."

He forecast a struggle in September, when legitimate organized labor attempts to win back leadership among these organizations. A "strike struggle of tremendous proportions," mild result, Dardeck predicted.

Caruthers, the Pittsburgh organizer, revealed attempts to enroll negroes among other movements being the development of the sharecroppers' union.

The discussion by the Russian assemblage of these activities in the United States was viewed as directly connecting the subversive attempts by American organizers, with Soviet support.

For this reason the American note was characterized by experts here as one of the strongest worded missives one nation can send to another in diplomatic usage.

May Sever Relations

Washington, Aug. 26.—Severance of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia stood out as a distinct possibility today.

While administration officials deprecated such speculation, it was conceded that unless Moscow is able to satisfy the United States that it is not fostering and encouraging communistic disorders in this country, a difficult task in view of the record, the government will have no other course than to send the Soviet ambassador home and recall Ambassador Bullitt from Moscow.

The American note of protest, which called for attention to Soviet promises when recognition was accorded in November, 1933, used the phrase "most serious consequences" as certain to follow unless the Stalin government takes necessary steps to stop its Moscow-inspired "boring from within" tactics in the United States.

In diplomatic parlance, that "most serious consequences" phrase usually means something. There is no stronger phrase in the language of diplomacy. It was used once by Japanese Ambassador to the United States M. Hanihara in protesting against the Japanese exclusion act being passed by congress, and the United States forced the recall of Hanihara because of it.

"Most serious consequences" has been used to cloak the threat of war in diplomatic correspondence. And while no one considers that even a most remote possibility between the United States and Soviet Russia nevertheless its employment in this instance carries with it the strong implication that unless the Soviets begin to live up to their promises of 1933 there is little use of continuing the relationship now existing.

In his note of protest, Ambassador Bullitt called particular attention to paragraph four of the Litvinoff letter to President Roosevelt at the time recognition was granted.

Soviet Will Not Halt Activities.
Moscow, Aug. 26.—The Soviet government will make no attempt to limit activities of the Communist International despite sharp warning from

More Pheasants To Be Released During Week

Another Big Allotment Of Ringnecks To Be Received By County

Sometime this week an allotment of 450 young ringnecked pheasants from the Jordan State Game farm are to be released in Lawrence county, according to V. T. Warfel, senior game propagator in charge of the farm.

This will be the second such allotment Lawrence county has received. As were the first 450, these birds will be released in the various townships by Game Protector Frank Coen and his assistants. "Lawrence is one of the best pheasant counties in the state," Superintendent Warfel told a News writer the other day. "And always gets a substantial allotment. Very few other counties get more birds per square mile. Mercer and Crawford counties also offer good territory for the game birds and are kept well stocked."

This year brought the biggest egg production the Jordan farm has ever had—75,000 in all. The number of pheasants was also high, estimated at 22,000.

About 4,000 day old chicks were sent to sportsmen's clubs which provided rearing equipment. The rest have been kept in the farm's own colony brooders until they reach the age of eight or ten weeks. When they "come of age" they are promptly sent to game protectors throughout Western Pennsylvania to be released.

All eggs set during April and May averaged about 90 percent fertile and 87 percent of the fertile eggs were hatched. In other words, there were 78 chicks for every 100 eggs set in April and May. Fertility dropped to 65 percent in June.

Fifteen hundred fifty birds were used in the laying fields. Seventeen thousand birds have been removed from the brooders to the present time and a large part of that number has been shipped out for restocking purposes. A thousand seven hundred are being held from which new breeders for next year will be chosen.

Not only will this year's production be the largest the farm has ever turned out but it should be of more benefit to sportsmen than ever before, for the birds have been kept at the farm longer than has previously been the custom. Consequently they are harder and better developed.

Preparations are being made for holding about 2,000 male birds to be kept to maturity on the farm and released after the hunting season is over, in sections where heavy hunting depletes the supply of males.

One new section has just been completed to the covered field portion of the farm. There are now six and a quarter acres covered, and pheasants may be kept there with clipped wings. The wire covers protect them, too, from hawks.

The last hatch was removed from the forced-draft incubators on the first day of August. Since then Mr. Warfel and his men have been busy shipping the birds out to game protectors.

Regulations On Waterfowl Are Given To Public

Game Commission Announces Federal Regulations Governing Season

Regulations governing the hunting of ducks and other waterfowl have been made public by the State Game Commission in the following statement:

"The season on ducks, geese, brant, jacksnipe and coots in Pennsylvania this year opens October 21 and closes November 19, according to Federal regulations just announced. Shooting will be permitted only between 7 a. m. and 4 p. m. Sundays excepted in Pennsylvania. The above season also applies to Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York (including Long Island), Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Nevada.

"The season for those states in the southern zone including New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California will extend from November 20 to December 19, inclusive.

"Shooting over baited water or land, which has furnished the heaviest toll from all species and accounted for the most consistent full bag limits, will be prohibited.

"Floating crafts may not be used more than 100 feet from the shore line or line of visible vegetation at time of shooting.

"Live decoys, one of the most effective methods of luring the migratory flocks to the blind, are also ruled out. None will be allowed.

"The possession of more than one day's bag has been made illegal.

"The 3-shell limit placed on repeating shotguns last February will take effect for the first time this fall, and the new regulations provide that hunters may use a shotgun only, not larger than No. 10 gauge. Under this regulation waterfowl may not be taken or by means of any automatic-loading or hand-operated repeating shotgun capable of holding more than three shells, the magazine of which has not been cut off, or plugged with a 1-piece metal or wooden filler incapable of removal through the loading end thereof, so as to reduce the capacity of said gun to not more than three shells at one loading.

"The new regulations place the daily bag limit on ducks at 10 in the aggregate of all kinds and make the possession limit conform to this daily bag limit. Changes represent a reduction of two in the daily bag and of 14 in the possession limit of the common species, but extra restrictions on certain species have been removed.

"Bag limits on geese and brant remain at four in the aggregate, but the possession limits have been cut in half, now conforming to the bag limits.

"The bag and possession limits on other species affected by the regulations are as follows: Coot, 15; jacksnipe, 15; sora, 25; rails (except Sora and coot), 15; and woodcock, 4; gallinules, 15.

"The season on wood ducks, ruddy ducks, bufflehead ducks, and swans is closed and no shooting of snow geese is allowed in any of the states bordering the Atlantic Ocean.

"It will be remembered that last year the season on brant was closed whereas this year it has been reopened.

"The regulation prohibits entirely the taking of migratory game birds from or by the aid of an automobile, airplane, sinkbox (battery), power boat, sailboat, any boat under sail, any floating craft or device of any kind towed by power boat or sailboat."

Some Reeves Are Raised At Jordan State Game Farm

A few Reeves pheasants were raised this summer at the Jordan State Game Farm, near Harlansburg, and are being released in some of the more mountainous sections of Western Pennsylvania.

The Jordan farm is primarily a ringnecked pheasant propagation center and the raising of Reeves has been carried on merely as an experiment. The Reeves are better adapted to life in mountainous territories than are ringnecked pheasants and may be used extensively in parts of Pennsylvania in the future.

Cardinals Take League Lead As Deans Triumph

Manager Bill Terry Admonishes Giants To Keep On Fighting Or Lose Jobs

By HOMER METZ
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—"We lost the lead, the Cardinals don't win it."

That's the way Bill Terry put it when he was asked today to explain the collapse of his Giants.

The pennant lead which the New Yorkers assumed as early as April 27 and carried over four full months of campaigning, except for a few minutes on July 23, slipped definitely from their grasp yesterday as they dropped a 5 to 4 decision to the Chicago Cubs while the St. Louis Cards were taking both ends of a double header from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-3 and 6-1.

Giants Fighting.
"They're the same players who burned up the league early in the year," Terry added. "But they aren't playing the same kind of baseball now. I can't explain it, except that I do know it is all our own fault."

While the Giants are far from out of the flag race, they're going to have a rough job overhauling the Cardinals. Thirty-six games remain on their schedule but they'll have to take 25 of this number if they are to come down to the wire neck and neck with Frankie Frisch's wahoo boys.

Terry read the act to his charges today.
"If I'm going to lose, I can lose with nine men as well as 23," he told them. "From now on the issue isn't the pennant. It's your job. If you take care of it, the pennant will take care of itself. If you don't, not many of you will be here for another chance next year."

Pirates Win Two.
The Pittsburgh Pirates had little trouble handing a double lacing to the Boston Braves, 9 to 2 and 6 to 5. Big Jim Weaver held the tribe to six hits in the opener. The nightcap went 11 innings with Manager Pie Traynor's single deciding the issue for the Pittsburghers.

The Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds held an old-time slugfest with the Phils finally winning out, 12 to 10.

The Detroit Tigers widened their advantage over the second place New York Yankees in the American league by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-3, while the New Yorkers were being held even in a double-header with the Chicago White Sox. A four-run rally in the fifth gave Mickey Cochrane's club the victory.

Yanks-Sox Split.
Johnny Whitehead held the Yanks to three hits in the opener to win by a score of 6 to 3. In the nightcap, however, the Yanks hammered Vernon Kennedy for a 6 to 1 triumph. The McCarthy men now trail the Tigers by 8½ games.

The Boston Red Sox strengthened their hold on third place by taking a pair of games from the Cleveland Indians, 5-4 and 8-2. A riot was narrowly averted in the seventh inning of the second game when angry Cleveland fans hurled pop bottles on the field in protest of a reversed decision by Umpire Owens on Melillo's bunt.

The improved St. Louis Browns trimmed the Washington Senators twice, 3 to 2 and 7 to 6. Andrews and Waukey were the winning pitchers for Hornsby's surprise makers.

Ted Luther Is Hershey Winner

Girard, O., Pro Wins First Prize At Hershey, Pa., Golf Tourney

(International News Service)
HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 26.—Portly Felix Serafin, the Scranton pro, can go down in the books as the chief hard luck guy of the third annual Hershey open but they don't pay off on hard luck so today the $1,000 first prize crown rested on the youthful head of slim Ted Luther, Girard, Ohio.

Tied with Luther from the 63rd hole when both were still back in the field apparently hopelessly trailing the leaders, Serafin missed one easy chance to win the lion's share of the $4,000 prize money in the regulation 72-hole play, then staged a heroic comeback stab on the first 18-hole play-off, only to blast his chances away in a second extra round.

Sinks Long Putt
With the shades of dark gathering on Saturday, Serafin missed an eight-foot putt on the 18th green which would have given him 289 and victory. Instead, he took a par three on the hole and 290 to continue, his deadlock with Luther yesterday morning, Serafin sank a 30-foot putt on the same 18th hole to tie Luther but in the afternoon round he was a bulky five strokes behind with an 80 to lose the match.

Denny Shute, Chicago, former British open titlist, who led the pack after the first round, blew up on the last with an 80 to share third and fourth money with Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee with 293. Leo Diegel, the Philadelphia medalist with a burning 68, wound up in ninth place when he could find nothing to match his first score. The other best-knowns who completed, including Sam Parks, Jr., the national open winner this year, finished out of the running.

Arthur Smith, manager and pro at the Municipal Course, who in turn presented it to President Arnold Frazier, of the golf league, and spoke in behalf of the officers of the league.

Senators Are Given Surprise

Hopson Shows Defiance When Placed Upon Investigator's "Rack"

NOT POPULAR AMONG WEALTHY

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S. Street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It is interesting to wonder what will be the outcome of the feud of Senator Hugo L. Black's lobbying committee with Howard C. Hopson, master mind of the Associated Gas & Electric system.

The committee still will be in existence when congress convenes next winter. It also can hold sessions during the congressional recess.

Congressman John J. O'Connor's similar committee of members of the house of representatives doesn't signify so much. It appears to be friendly to Hopson, and presumably will let him alone. Senator Black, however, is hostile all right. Indeed, Black has pushed his inquiry so far that he scarcely can stop without giving the impression that he has been "called off" by the administration—for some of the information he has uncovered have been rather embarrassing to it, and the senator is an administrationist himself.

HOPSON'S "NERVE"

Hopson was a great surprise to the lobby investigators. From the fashion in which he dodged their subpoena, servers, in the early days of the feud, they had arrived at the conclusion, the previously had been virtually unknown to politicians that he was timid.

The fact is, as he demonstrated on the witness stand, his nerve is phenomenal.

Finally caught (it would be more correct to say that he accepted service of the lawmakers' summonses, in his own good time), he proved to be a jolly-looking, smiling, superficially amiable, very short, very fat man.

But he can cease to smile. Prodded, he has it in him to turn as vicious as an enraged rhinoceros—which his physique, in his own human way, suggests, on a small scale.

However, he hasn't a charging rhinoceros' impetuosity; he is cool.

NOT POPULAR
Hopson is not popular among all holders of utility stocks.

For example, the American Federation of Utility Investors, under the presidency of Dr. Hugh S. McGill, wholly disavows him, accusing him of having sacrificed the utilities and their customers, alike, to his own personal interest.

Chairman Philip H. Gadsden of the committee of public utility executives says:

"My committee utterly condemns some of the practices which have been charged against certain representatives of the Associated Gas & Electric company, and regrets Howard C. Hopson's apparent effort to evade testifying before the investigating committee until compelled to do so."

BOLD
The American Federation of Utility Investors (through Dr. McGill and the committee of public utility executives (through Chairman Gadsden) imply that Hopson has racketeered on them as well as on the public.

Nevertheless, if a racketeer at all he has been a bold, not a timid one, and, cornered, he is not timid now. Courage must be accorded its need of praise, even in a suspected public enemy.

NO RULES FOR INVESTIGATORS

A congressional inquisition, be it said, isn't overly fair, reckoned according to Anglo-Saxon legal rights. In a court of justice the accused individual has certain rights.

He can not properly be browbeaten from the bench; he cannot be punished for refusing to testify against himself.

The "sky is the limit in a congressional investigation."

To Hold Exams For Mail Jobs

Present List of Applicants Will Be Discarded And New Examinations Held

SAY DEMOCRATS TO BE FAVORED

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—The Civil Service Commission in the near future will hold in New Castle an examination for candidates for appointment as mail clerk and letter carrier in the postal service.

The 40-hour week bill passed this session will require appointment of additional clerks and carriers at many places. In order to set up civil service eligible lists from which these appointments may be made, Congress appropriated funds to enable the Civil Service Commission to conduct examinations in all the larger cities. These tests will come without delay, postal officials say.

The present list of candidates at the New Castle post office eligible for appointment will be junked and eligibles on the list will be required to take the new examination if they still wish appointment, it is stated.

Federal officials say the existing list of eligibles will be destroyed because it was made up five years ago and carries many candidates no longer within age limitations. It is reliably reported, however, that there are too many Republicans on present eligible lists all over the country, and that the Administration is ordering the new tests to give "deserving Democrats" an opportunity to displace them.
